Dear Al,

Thanks for the information about the Bandido Charlie association. I knew it was a special patch when I saw it. I collect WWII uniform patches and traded some German collectibles for some cash and other items. The patch was in the items I traded for and I will treasure it. I have enclosed a copy of the patch and it appears someone worked on the "E" a little bit. The guy I traded it from could only tell me it was in some items he traded for in the Houston Texas area.

I guess I would like you guy's expert opinion on what you see in the copy. Does it appear to be the real deal and second do you have an idea what it is worth.

I am sure it is priceless as it will be in my collection. I don't real collect Vietnam era patches but I know a good one when I see it. It will be displayed in my collection with the honor in which your group wore them. If I ever consider selling it I will contact your group first. I will only trade or sell it to one of your members once I fall out of love with it.

I have collected police badges and patches for over thirty years and got into WWII insignia about five years ago and have several hundred to date.

Take care and again thanks for the help.

Thank You to all the members of your association for your service in the U.S. Army's "Big Red One"

Fraternally,

Carl Williams
